Food Defense Plan: USDA 7-1 to 7-36

The food defense plan is created separately from your food safety plan. An employee is designated to oversee the plan, and all employees must be provided with training. The FDA provides several resources to help you build a food defense plan for your farm. For more information, visit:

<http://www.fsis.usda.gov/wps/portal/fsis/topics/food-defense-and-emergency-response>

Areas of Consideration:
Visitor policy (check in, ID, access areas, parking, purposed for visit)
Employee access and ID (during workday, after termination)
Computer safety (restricted access, transaction traceability)
Security of fields (restricted public access, perimeter fence)
Security of facilities (locks on windows and doors, key accountability)
Security of vehicles
Deliveries (schedule, supervised, delivery rejection)
Emergency response
Applicable documentation (Check all that apply):
<input type="checkbox"/> Registration with the FDA (registration number)
<input type="checkbox"/> Mock Recall
<input type="checkbox"/> Employee identification (and backgrounds checks if applicable)
